

MEDICAL GASES

“It has become clear that there is a better approach to meeting and exceeding the needs of the medical market.”

Peter McCausland
Chairman and CEO, Airgas, Inc.

There's a refreshing change in the medical gas industry. You'll find it with us.

Airgas Puritan Medical is your natural choice for consistent quality in product, service and total cost advantage. We're working hard to prove that you now have a better choice for medical gases and equipment. And you'll find it with us.

Product. Service. Expertise. Now more than ever, you'll find it with us.

It's the strength of Airgas combined with the 90-year heritage of Puritan Medical.

Airgas Puritan Medical brings you everything you've wanted in a medical gas supplier— including peace of mind.

Two of the strongest names in the medical gas industry have joined together to give medical gas customers unique, new advantages. Airgas Puritan Medical offers the industry's largest distribution network, the widest range of products and services, and is backed by the expertise of nearly 500 associates dedicated to the medical market. Easier ordering, the highest quality products, reliable delivery, and lower total cost—Airgas Puritan Medical makes it easy to choose a medical gas supplier. And makes your job of purchasing and managing medical gas and related equipment a whole lot easier, too.

With Airgas Puritan Medical, you'll find a different way—a better way—of working with your medical gas provider.

If it concerns you, it concerns us. That's what's behind the formation of Airgas Puritan Medical. We've created an organization based on responsive, personalized service. Lower total costs through economies of scale in distribution and purchasing. And convenience with reliability through our vast integrated network of locations and delivery fleets. All of this integrated infrastructure supports the industry's widest offering of quality medical gas products and related equipment. It's all accessible through one point of contact anywhere in our national network of regional companies. Now it's easier than ever to meet your medical gas needs because one source has it all. A total customer experience, you'll find it with us.

All the products you need. Where you need them, when you need them.

With some 800 locations nationwide, including more than 150 medical gas fill plants — 35 dedicated exclusively to medical gases — Airgas Puritan Medical is everywhere you need us to be. In addition to having the largest medical cylinder fleet in the U.S., Airgas Puritan Medical is one of the top suppliers of bulk medical gases. Whether you are looking for medical gases for one location locally or multiple medical centers nationwide, we can supply every medical gas product, including specialty gases and medical gas equipment, from facilities near you. The Airgas distribution fleet, including more than 2,500 delivery vehicles and more than 160 dedicated Airgas Puritan Medical trucks, means prompt, reliable delivery and more flexible scheduling options.

Cost efficiency for today's cost competitive business environment.

We are the leading distributor of medical and specialty gases, which means savings advantages for you. Our economies of scale and supply chain efficiencies create a better total cost for Airgas Puritan Medical customers. To further reduce costs, we constantly develop value-added options, like unique billing plans designed for medical markets, onsite cylinder inventory management and tracking, and consignment programs. Because we understand the medical marketplace, we will continue to be at the forefront of ideas and programs that help our customers perform better and save more.

Outstanding service and expertise is part of our heritage.

It's not just what we do...it's how we do it. It's a personalized approach based on listening carefully to our customers and working tirelessly to make their jobs easier and their operations more cost efficient. We've leveraged the unrivaled knowledge base of both Airgas and Puritan Medical teams to create a staff of more than 500 highly experienced people dedicated exclusively to the medical business. They thoroughly understand your needs for on-time delivery and for strict quality control for every gas you use. They are your partners in helping you manage costs while increasing the quality and variety of care.
