

MEDICAL GASES

ACUTE CARE

Reliability. Service. Expertise.
Now more than ever, you'll find it with us.

We're Airgas Puritan Medical. We are the strength of Airgas combined with the more-than-90-year heritage of Puritan Medical. Two names well known in the healthcare world. Now one name with everything you could want from a medical gas and equipment supplier—including total reassurance.

Two of the major names in the medical gas industry have joined together to give GPOs, healthcare systems and other acute care customers the powerful benefit of Airgas Puritan Medical. You'll find it in the reliability that comes from being the country's biggest integrated network of locations and delivery fleets. With the widest offering of medical and specialty gases in cylinder and bulk. You'll find it in the service-driven ethic of our 500+ associates dedicated exclusively to the medical market. And in their considerable expertise in inventory management, equipment operation, and attentive customer service that reassures our acute care customers they have made the right choice in a medical gas supplier.

Now more than ever, you'll find it all with us.

In healthcare's drive for product quality and cost efficiency, we are the perfect partner.

Airgas Puritan Medical gives you the highest production quality along with the substantial economies of scale from our supply chain efficiency. Our position as the largest distributor of medical gases nationwide enables us to offer a broad product range at a better total cost. And with our in-depth knowledge of acute care needs, we constantly develop new ideas for added value and for your added cost efficiency.

“They provide good service, as I need it. Whatever it takes to get the job done. I have been in emergency situations where Airgas Puritan Medical has gone out of their way to help me.”
